The Cooperative Institute for Climate, Ocean, and Ecosystem Studies (CICOES) Graduate Student Fellowship program is accepting applications for Fall 2022, Winter 2023, and Spring 2023 academic quarters. Eligible students include those working with and supported by CICOES PIs, NOAA Scientists, and those working with CICOES-affiliated UW Faculty. A Research Assistant (RA) appointment (i.e. tuition, departmental stipend (50% FTE), and benefits) is awarded with each academic quarter. To be eligible for support all applicants must be up-to-date on their departmental milestones and maintain satisfactory progress toward completion of a degree program. First year graduate students are not eligible to apply.
Purpose
The CICOES visitor program facilitates exchanges that strengthen existing collaborations, promotes new collaborations, and/or provides educational opportunities to CICOES staff and broader community on new and emerging ideas. This initiative is primarily for visiting scholars, although under exceptional circumstances CICOES-UW employees may visit a host institution.

Summary
- Any CICOES-UW staff member can apply
- Max $25,000 per year, $5,000 for UW visit, $3,500 for CICOES visitor
- Shared office space at Wallace Hall
- Cost sharing not required but encouraged
